

I Survived: The San Francisco Earthquake, 1906

Author: Tarshis, Lauren ATOS BL: 3.8 Interest Level: Middle Grades (MG) F/NF: Fiction

abandoned -VERB having been left behind, usually purposely; deserted; having been given up

ADJECTIVE discarded; dumped; vacated <abandoned car on the side of the road> amazement- NOUN wonder and surprise; astonishment; sudden fear or fright braced -VERB held stiff or tight, usually in preparation for an attack or blow; made secure, strong, or able to withstand attack; prepared for something difficult or threatening

ADJECTIVE stable; unmoving fury -NOUN rage; extreme anger loot- NOUN stolen valuables or goods; goods or money that is obtained illegally nugget – NOUN a small, solid lump or chunk that does not have a definite or regular shape; a small bit or piece of something, usually a precious metal or material, such as gold plaster –NOUN a mixture of water, sand, and gypsum used as a coating that hardens when dry

VERB the act of covering something in plaster rubble- NOUN the remains of something that has been broken or destroyed; rough, broken stones; debris or wreckage tattered - VERB tore; shredded

ADJECTIVE torn; ragged; having a used or well-worn appearance; showing signs of much wear or use

Word Skill Wordlist- Frequently Misspelled Words(Spelling only)

said	we're	another	sometimes	didn't heard	little	through	outside	something thought	Halloween	people	everybody	want